On the 16th day of February, 1855, pursuant to the recommendation of commissioners appointed by the governor under a resolve of the preceding year to report a plan for consolidating and arranging the general statutes of the commonwealth, the legislature passed a resolve requiring the governor, with the advice and consent of the council, to appoint three commissioners "for consolidating and arranging the general statutes of the commonwealth on the basis, plan, and general form and method of the Revised Statutes," with authority to "omit redundant enactments and those which may have ceased to have any effect or influence on existing rights; to reject superfluous words, and condense into as concise and comprehensive a form, as is consistent with a full and clear expression of the will of the legislature, all circuitous, tautological, and ambiguous phraseology; to suggest any mistakes, omissions, inconsistencies, and imperfections which may appear in the laws to be consolidated and arranged, and the manner in which they may be corrected, supplied, and amended." By virtue of this resolve,

JOEL PARKER, of CAMBRIDGE,
WILLIAM A. RICHARDSON, of LOWELL, and
ANDREW A. RICHMOND, of ADAMS,

were appointed and commissioned March 9, 1855. The commissioners immediately entered upon the discharge of their duties; and, having completed the same in the autumn of 1858, their report was submitted in print to the legislature at the commencement of the annual session in January, 1859, by Messrs. Parker and Richardson; Mr. Richmond having been prevented by illness from participating in the work during the last year of its progress.

On the 23d day of February, 1859, resolves were passed providing for a special session of the legislature, to be commenced on the first Wednesday of the next September, for the purpose of completing the revision, and also providing for the appointment of a joint special committee, consisting of the president and eleven other members of the Senate and the speaker and twenty-eight other members of the House of Representatives, to examine and consider, during the recess of the legislature, the report of the commissioners, to incorporate therein all general laws passed by the legislature at the annual session of that year, and with power to propose such amendments and alterations in existing laws as the committee might deem expedient.

The committee appointed under these resolves organized early in April, immediately after the adjournment of the legislature, and was in session about eighty days, exclusive of intervals of adjournment, holidays, and Sundays.

The committee reported in print, at the special session in September, numerous amendments to the commissioners' report, incorporating the legislation of the previous session and proposing many changes in the existing laws.

The legislature commenced its special session on the first Wednesday of September, and at that session, on the 28th day of December, 1859, passed the following act, which is therein designated as the GENERAL STATUTES.

By chapter 140 of the resolves of 1859, the undersigned were appointed commissioners "to edit and superintend the printing and publication of the General Statutes of the commonwealth, together with the Constitution thereof, the Constitution of the United States, and such other additions as they deem expedient," and to prepare marginal notes to the sections of the Statutes, and an exact and copious Index to the whole.

The text of the Constitution of Massachusetts and of the Statutes has been carefully compared with the rolls by the editors personally. In the necessary haste in which the Statutes were engrossed upon parchment during the last part of the special session, some errors appear to have been made therein. These have been noted by brackets, thus [ ], enclosing in Roman letters, like the body of the text, any omitted word or words which should have been engrossed upon the roll, and in Italics any erroneous or superfluous word or words found there; but this does not apply to cases where brackets are used in forms.

The marginal references to the statutes and decisions are taken chiefly from the commissioners' report; the references to the acts of the legislature of 1859, and to the later volumes of Gray's Reports, and a few other references having been added. The editors have attempted to connect together, by cross references in the margin, many of the provisions of law relating to the same subject.

A list of general acts passed subsequently to the passage of the Revised Statutes and expressly repealed before the passage of the General Statutes, with references to the repealing acts or sections, has been added, as a useful appendage to chapter 182, in order that the fact and time of the repeal of many laws not enumerated in that chapter may be more easily ascertained.

In compliance with chapter 138 of the resolves of 1859, a Glossary has been added, which is made rather for popular than for professional use, according to the supposed object of the resolve.

Much care and labor have been devoted to the Index, and it is believed that it will be found more full than that to any former edition of the laws of this commonwealth.

The editors trust that the short time allowed for printing the volume and for preparing the Glossary and Index will be deemed a sufficient excuse for any errors or imperfections which may be discovered in their editorial labors.

WILLIAM A. RICHARDSON,
GEORGE P. SANGER.

And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president.

Same subject.

The person having the greatest number of votes as vice president, shall be the vice president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the senate shall choose the vice president; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

Same subject.

But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president shall be eligible to that of vice president of the United States.

PREAMBLE.

The end of the institution, maintenance and administration of government, is to secure the existence of the body politic, to protect it, and to furnish the individuals who compose it, with the power of enjoying in safety and tranquillity, their natural rights, and the blessings of life: and whenever these great objects are not obtained, the people have a right to alter the government, and to take measures necessary for their safety, prosperity and happiness.

Objects of government.

The body politic is formed by a voluntary association of individuals: it is a social compact, by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good. It is the duty of the people, therefore, in framing a constitution of government, to provide for an equitable mode of making laws, as well as for an impartial interpretation, and a faithful execution of them; that every man may, at all times, find his security in them.

Body politic, how formed. Its nature.

We, therefore, the people of Massachusetts, acknowledging, with grateful hearts, the goodness of the great Legislator of the universe, in affording us, in the course of his providence, an opportunity, deliberately and peaceably, without fraud, violence or surprise, of entering into an original, explicit, and solemn compact with each other; and of forming a new constitution of civil government, for ourselves and posterity; and devoutly imploring His direction in so interesting a design, do agree upon, ordain and establish, the following Declaration of Rights, and Frame of Government, as the CONSTITUTION OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

PART THE FIRST.

Equality and natural rights of all men.

ART. I. All men are born free and equal, and have certain natural, essential, and unalienable rights; among which may be reckoned the right of enjoying and defending their lives and liberties; that of acquiring, possessing, and protecting property; in fine, that of seeking and obtaining their safety and happiness.

Right and duty of public religious worship. Protection therein. 2 Cush. 104.

II. It is the right as well as the duty of all men in society, publicly, and at stated seasons to worship the SUPREME BEING, the great Creator and Preserver of the universe. And no subject shall be hurt, molested, or restrained, in his person, liberty, or estate, for worshipping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience; or for his religious profession or sentiments; provided he doth not disturb the public peace, or obstruct others in their religious worship.

Amendment, Art. XI, substituted for this.

[III. As the happiness of a people, and the good order and preservation of civil government, essentially depend upon piety, religion and morality; and as these cannot be generally diffused through a community, but by the institution of the public worship of God, and of public instructions in piety, religion and morality: Therefore, to promote their happiness and to secure the good order and preservation of their government, the people of this commonwealth have a right to invest their legislature with power to authorize and require, and the legislature shall, from time to time, authorize and require, the several towns, parishes, precincts, and other bodies politic, or religious societies, to make suitable provision at their own expense, for the institution of the public worship of God, and for the support and maintenance of public protestant teachers of piety, religion and morality, in all cases where such provision shall not be made voluntarily.

Legislature empowered to compel provision for public worship;

And the people of this commonwealth have also a right to, and do, invest their legislature with authority to enjoin upon all the subjects an attendance upon the instructions of the public teachers aforesaid, at stated times and seasons, if there be any on whose instructions they can conscientiously and conveniently attend.

Exclusive right of electing religious teachers secured.

Provided notwithstanding, that the several towns, parishes, precincts, and other bodies politic, or religious societies, shall, at all times, have the exclusive right of electing their public teachers, and of contracting with them for their support and maintenance.

Option as to whom parochial taxes may be paid, unless, &c.

And all moneys, paid by the subject to the support of public worship, and of the public teachers aforesaid, shall, if he require it, be uniformly applied to the support of the public teacher or teachers of his own religious sect or denomination, provided there be any on whose instructions he attends; otherwise it may be paid towards the support of the teacher or teachers of the parish or precinct in which the said moneys are raised.

All denominations equally protected. Subordination of one sect to another prohibited. Right of self-government secured.

And every denomination of christians, demeaning themselves peaceably, and as good subjects of the commonwealth, shall be equally under the protection of the law: and no subordination of any one sect or denomination to another shall ever be established by law.]

IV. The people of this commonwealth have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves, as a free, sovereign and independent state; and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right, which is not, or may not hereafter, be by them expressly delegated to the United States of America, in Congress assembled.

Accountability of all officers, &c.

V. All power residing originally in the people, and being derived from them, the several magistrates and officers of government, vested with authority, whether legislative, executive, or judicial, are their substitutes and agents, and are at all times accountable to them.

Services rendered to the public being the only title to peculiar privileges, hereditary offices are absurd and unnatural.

VI. No man, nor corporation, or association of men, have any other title to obtain advantages, or particular and exclusive privileges, distinct from those of the community, than what arises from the consideration of services rendered to the public; and this title being in nature neither hereditary, nor transmissible to children, or descendants, or relations by blood, the idea of a man born a magistrate, lawgiver, or judge, is absurd and unnatural.

VII. Government is instituted for the common good; for the protection, safety, prosperity and happiness of the people; and not for the profit, honor, or private interest of any one man, family or class of men: Therefore the people alone have an incontestable, unalienable, and indefeasible right to institute government; and to reform, alter, or totally change the same, when their protection, safety, prosperity and happiness require it.

Objects of government; right of people to institute and change it.

VIII. In order to prevent those, who are vested with authority, from becoming oppressors, the people have a right, at such periods and in such manner as they shall establish by their frame of government, to cause their public officers to return to private life; and to fill up vacant places by certain and regular elections and appointments.

Right of people to secure rotation in office.

IX. All elections ought to be free; and all the inhabitants of this commonwealth, having such qualifications as they shall establish by their frame of government, have an equal right to elect officers, and to be elected, for public employments.

All, having the qualifications prescribed, equally eligible to office.

X. Each individual of the society has a right to be protected by it in the enjoyment of his life, liberty and property, according to standing laws. He is obliged, consequently, to contribute his share to the expense of this protection; to give his personal service, or an equivalent, when necessary; but no part of the property of any individual, can, with justice, be taken from him, or applied to public uses, without his own consent, or that of the representative body of the people. In fine, the people of this commonwealth are not controllable by any other laws than those to which their constitutional representative body have given their consent. And whenever the public exigencies require, that the property of any individual should be appropriated to public uses, he shall receive a reasonable compensation therefor.

Right of protection and duty of contribution correlative. Taxation founded on consent. 1 Pick. 418. 7 Pick. 544. 12 Pick. 183, 467. 16 Pick. 87. 23 Pick. 360. 4 Gray, 433. 7 Gray, 363.

XI. Every subject of the commonwealth ought to find a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries or wrongs which he may receive in his person, property, or character. He ought to obtain right and justice freely, and without being obliged to purchase it; completely, and without any denial; promptly, and without delay; conformably to the laws.

Private property not to be taken for public uses without, &c.

Remedies by recourse to the law, to be free, complete and prompt.

XII. No subject shall be held to answer for any crimes or offence, until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him; or be compelled to accuse, or furnish evidence against himself. And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs, that may be favorable to him; to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defence by himself, or his counsel, at his election. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled, or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land.

Prosecutions regulated. 8 Pick. 211. 10 Pick. 9. 21 Pick. 542. 2 Met. 329. 1 Gray, 1. 5 Gray, 160.

And the legislature shall not make any law, that shall subject any person to a capital or infamous punishment, excepting for the government of the army and navy, without trial by jury.

Right to trial by jury, in criminal cases, except, &c.

XIII. In criminal prosecutions, the verification of facts in the vicinity where they happen, is one of the greatest securities of the life, liberty, and property of the citizen.

Crimes to be proved in the vicinity.

XIV. Every subject has a right to be secure from all unreasonable searches, and seizures, of his person, his houses, his papers, and all his possessions. All warrants, therefore, are contrary to this right, if the cause or foundation of them be not previously supported by oath or affirmation, and if the order in the warrant to a civil officer, to make search in suspected places, or to arrest one or more suspected persons, or to seize their property, be not accompanied with a special designation of the persons or objects of search, arrest, or seizure: and no warrant ought to be issued but in cases, and with the formalities prescribed by the laws.

Right to trial by jury sacred, except, &c. Const. of U. S., Amend't VII. 2 Pick. 382. 7 Pick. 366. 5 Gray, 144.

XV. In all controversies concerning property, and in all suits between two or more persons, except in cases in which it has heretofore been otherwise used and practised, the parties have a right to a trial by jury; and this method of procedure shall be held sacred, unless, in causes arising on the high seas, and such as relate to mariners' wages, the legislature shall hereafter find it necessary to alter it.

Liberty of the Press.

XVI. The liberty of the press is essential to the security of freedom in a state: it ought not, therefore, to be restrained in this commonwealth.

Right to keep and bear arms. Standing armies dangerous. Military power subordinate to civil. 5 Gray, 121. Moral qualifications for office.

XVII. The people have a right to keep and to bear arms for the common defence. And as, in time of peace, armies are dangerous to liberty, they ought not to be maintained without the consent of the legislature; and the military power shall always be held in an exact subordination to the civil authority, and be governed by it.

XVIII. A frequent recurrence to the fundamental principles of the constitution, and a constant adherence to those of piety, justice, moderation, temperance, industry, and frugality, are absolutely necessary to preserve the advantages of liberty, and to maintain a free government. The people ought, consequently, to have a particular attention to all those principles, in the choice of their officers and representatives: and they have a right to require of their lawgivers and magistrates, an exact and constant observance of them, in the formation and execution of the laws necessary for the good administration of the commonwealth.

Moral obligations of lawgivers and magistrates.

Right of people to instruct representatives and petition legislature.

XIX. The people have a right, in an orderly and peaceable manner, to assemble to consult upon the common good: give instructions to their representatives, and to request of the legislative body, by the way of addresses, petitions, or remonstrances, redress of the wrongs done them, and of the grievances they suffer.

Power to suspend the laws or their execution.

XX. The power of suspending the laws, or the execution of the laws, ought never to be exercised but by the legislature, or by authority derived from it, to be exercised in such particular cases only as the legislature shall expressly provide for.

Freedom of debate, &c., and reason thereof.

XXI. The freedom of deliberation, speech and debate, in either house of the legislature, is so essential to the rights of the people, that it cannot be the foundation of any accusation or prosecution, action or complaint, in any other court or place whatsoever.

Frequent sessions, and objects thereof.

XXII. The legislature ought frequently to assemble for the redress of grievances, for correcting, strengthening and confirming the laws, and for making new laws, as the common good may require.

Taxation founded on consent.

XXIII. No subsidy, charge, tax, impost, or duties, ought to be established, fixed, laid, or levied, under any pretext whatsoever, without the consent of the people or their representatives in the legislature.

Ex post facto laws prohibited.

XXIV. Laws made to punish for actions done before the existence of such laws, and which have not been declared crimes by preceding laws, are unjust, oppressive, and inconsistent with the fundamental principles of a free government.

Legislature not to convict of treason, &c. Excessive bail or fines, and cruel punishments prohibited. 5 Gray, 482.

XXV. No subject ought, in any case, or in any time, to be declared guilty of treason or felony by the legislature.

No soldier to be quartered in any house, unless, &c. Citizens exempt from law-martial, unless, &c.

XXVI. No magistrate or court of law, shall demand excessive bail or surties, impose excessive fines, or inflict cruel or unusual punishments.

XXVII. In time of peace, no soldier ought to be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; and in time of war, such quarters ought not to be made but by the civil magistrate, in a manner ordained by the legislature.

XXVIII. No person can in any case be subjected to law-martial, or to any penalties or pains, by virtue of that law, except those employed in the army or navy, and except the militia in actual service, but by authority of the legislature.

XXIX. It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws, and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as free, impartial and independent as the lot of humanity will admit. It is, therefore, not only the best policy, but for the security of the rights of the people, and of every citizen, that the judges of the supreme judicial court should hold their offices as long as they behave themselves well; and that they should have honorable salaries ascertained and established by standing laws.

Judges of supreme judicial court.

Tenure of their office.

Salaries.

XXX. In the government of this commonwealth, the legislative department shall never exercise the executive and judicial powers, or either of them: the executive shall never exercise the legislative and judicial powers, or either of them: the judicial shall never exercise the legislative and executive powers, or either of them: to the end it may be a government of laws and not of men.

Separation of executive, judicial, and legislative departments. 2 Cosh. 577.

But if after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the said senate or house of representatives, shall, notwithstanding the said objections, agree to pass the same, it shall, together with the objections, be sent to the other branch of the legislature, where it shall also be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present, shall have the force of a law: but in all such cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays; and the names of the persons voting for, or against, the said bill or resolve, shall be entered upon the public records of the commonwealth.

THE UNIVERSITY AT CAMBRIDGE, AND ENCOURAGEMENT OF LITERATURE &amp;c.

SECTION I. The University.

Harvard College.

I. Whereas our wise and pious ancestors, so early as the year one thousand six hundred and thirty-six, laid the foundation of Harvard College, in which university many persons of great eminence have, by the blessing of God, been initiated in those arts and sciences, which qualified them for public employments, both in church and state: and whereas the encouragement of arts and sciences, and all good literature, tends to the honor of God, the advantage of the christian religion, and the great benefit of this and the other United States of America, — it is declared, that the PRESIDENT AND FELLOWS OF HARVARD COLLEGE, in their corporate capacity, and their successors in that capacity, their officers and servants, shall have, hold, use, exercise and enjoy, all the powers, authorities, rights, liberties, privileges, immunities and franchises, which they now have, or are entitled to have, hold, use, exercise and enjoy: and the same are hereby ratified and confirmed unto them, the said president and fellows of Harvard College, and to their successors, and to their officers and servants, respectively, forever.

Powers, privileges, &amp;c., of the president and fellows, confirmed.

II. And whereas there have been at sundry times, by divers persons, gifts, grants, devises of houses, lands, tenements, goods, chattels, legacies and conveyances, heretofore made, either to Harvard College in Cambridge, in New England, or to the president and fellows of Harvard College, or to the said college, by some other description, under several charters, successively: it is declared, that all the said gifts, grants, devises, legacies and conveyances, are hereby forever confirmed unto the president and fellows of Harvard College, and to their successors in the capacity aforesaid, according to the true intent and meaning of the donor or donors, grantor or grantors, devisor or devisors.

All gifts, grants, &amp;c. confirmed.

III. And whereas, by an act of the general court of the colony of Massachusetts Bay, passed in the year one thousand six hundred and forty-two, the governor and deputy-governor, for the time being, and all the magistrates of that jurisdiction, were, with the president, and a number of the clergy in the said act described, constituted the overseers of Harvard College: and it being necessary, in this new constitution of government to ascertain who shall be deemed successors to the said governor, deputy-governor and magistrates: it is declared, that the governor, lieutenant-governor, council and senate of this commonwealth, are, and shall be deemed, their successors, who, with the president of Harvard College, for the time being, together with the ministers of the congregational churches in the towns of Cambridge, Watertown, Charlestown, Boston, Roxbury, and Dorchester, mentioned in the said act, shall be, and hereby are, vested with all the powers and authority belonging, or in any way appertaining to the overseers of Harvard College; provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to prevent the legislature of this commonwealth from making such alterations in the government of the said university, as shall be conducive to its advantage, and the interest of the republic of letters, in as full a manner as might have been done by the legislature of the late Province of the Massachusetts Bay.

Every town containing less than twelve hundred inhabitants, shall be entitled to elect a representative as many times, within ten years, as the number one hundred and sixty is contained in the number of the inhabitants of said town. Such towns may also elect one representative for the year in which the valuation of estates within the commonwealth, shall be settled.

Any two or more of the several towns may, by consent of a majority of the legal voters present at a legal meeting, in each of said towns respectively, called for that purpose, and held before the first day of August, in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty, and every tenth year thereafter, form themselves into a representative district, to continue for the term of ten years; and such district shall have all the rights in regard to representation, which would belong to a town containing the same number of inhabitants.

The number of inhabitants which shall entitle a town to elect one representative, and the mean increasing number, which shall entitle a town or city to elect more than one, and also the number by which the population of towns, not entitled to a representative every year is to be divided, shall be increased respectively, by one-tenth of the numbers above mentioned, whenever the population of the commonwealth shall have increased to seven hundred and seventy thousand, and for every additional increase of seventy thousand inhabitants, the same addition of one-tenth shall be made respectively to the said numbers above mentioned.

In the year of each decennial census, the governor and council shall, before the first day of September, apportion the number of representatives which each city, town, and representative district is entitled to elect, and ascertain how many years within ten years, any town may elect a representative, which is not entitled to elect one every year; and the governor shall cause the same to be published forthwith.

Nine councillors shall be annually chosen from among the people at large, on the first Wednesday of January, or as soon thereafter as may be, by the joint ballot of the senators and representatives assembled in one room, who shall, as soon as may be, in like manner, fill up any vacancies that may happen in the council, by death, resignation or otherwise. No person shall be elected a councillor, who has not been an inhabitant of this commonwealth for the term of five years immediately preceding his election; and not more than one councillor shall be chosen from any one senatorial district in the commonwealth.

No possession of a freehold or of any other estate shall be required as a qualification for holding a seat in either branch of the general court, or in the executive council.

ART. XIV. In all elections of civil officers by the people of this commonwealth, whose election is provided for by the constitution, the person having the highest number of votes shall be deemed and declared to be elected.

ART. XV. The election of councillors shall be determined by the same rule that is required in the election of governor. No person shall be eligible to the office of councillor who has not been an inhabitant of the commonwealth for the term of five years immediately preceding his election. The day and manner of the election, the return of the votes, and the declaration of the said elections, shall be the same as are required in the election of governor. Whenever there shall be a failure to elect the full number of councillors, the vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as is required for filling vacancies in the senate; and vacancies occasioned by death, removal from the state, or otherwise, shall be filled in like manner, as soon as may be after such vacancies shall have happened. And that there may be no delay in the organization of the government on the first Wednesday of January, the governor, with at least five councillors for the time being, shall, as soon as may be, examine the returned copies of the records for the election of governor, lieutenant-governor, and councillors; and ten days before the said first Wednesday in January he shall issue his summons to such persons as appear to be chosen, to attend on that day to be qualified accordingly; and the secretary shall lay the returns before the senate and house of representatives on the said first Wednesday in January, to be by them examined; and in case of the election of either of said officers, the choice shall be by them declared and published; but in case there shall be no election of either of said officers, the legislature shall proceed to fill such vacancies in the manner provided in the constitution for the choice of such officers.

The qualification of the voters, the manner of the election, the return of the votes, and the declaration of the election, shall be such as are required in the election of governor. In case of a failure to elect either of said officers on the day in November aforesaid, or in case of the decease in the mean time of the person elected as such, such officer shall be chosen on or before the third Wednesday in January next thereafter from the two persons who had the highest number of votes for said offices on the day in November aforesaid, by joint ballot of the senators and representatives in one room; and in case the office of secretary, or treasurer and receiver-general, or auditor, or attorney-general, shall become vacant from any cause during an annual or special session of the general court, such vacancy shall in like manner be filled by choice from the people at large; but if such vacancy shall occur at any other time, it shall be supplied by the governor by appointment, with the advice and consent of the council. The person so chosen or appointed, duly qualified in other respects, shall hold his office until his successor is chosen and duly qualified in his stead. In case any person chosen or appointed to either of the offices aforesaid, shall neglect, for the space of ten days after he could otherwise enter upon his duties, to qualify himself in all respects to enter upon the discharge of such duties, the office to which he has been elected or appointed shall be deemed vacant. SECT. 29. Every public officer or board having charge of the disbursement of money, appropriated from the ordinary revenue or from the income of any funds belonging to or under the charge of the commonwealth, shall annually in the first week of January, report in detail to the auditor, in such form as he shall prescribe, all expenditures made by them, and the objects to which such expenditures have been applied.

SECT. 30. No money shall be paid from the treasury, but upon the warrant of the governor drawn in accordance with an appropriation in some act or resolve passed within the same political year, except for payments required on account of the principal or interest of a public debt, or for the salaries of the judges of the supreme judicial court, and of the governor, as established by standing laws. Said principal and interest shall be paid when due, and said salaries in the same manner as if a specific appropriation therefor were included in a separate law passed each year. No warrant shall be drawn for the payment of any account or demand except for the pay rolls of the council, senate, and house of representatives, unless the same is certified by the auditor.

Money to be paid from treasury only upon warrant of the governor, &c. 1849, 56, § 2. 1858, 1, §§ 1, 2.

If such an appropriation or balance shall not be called for by the person to whom it is due, or shall not be applied to the objects for which it was designed, within the political year in which it is made, or the succeeding year, it shall revert to the general treasury, and shall not afterwards be paid out, except upon a new appropriation.

Balances of appropriations may be paid in succeeding year, but not afterwards, 1858, 1, § 3.

SECT. 32. No appropriation law shall be construed to require any payments to a person with whom the state has an unadjusted account. But the governor, upon receiving satisfactory information that any money is illegally withheld from the state by such person, shall instruct the treasurer to withhold all payments of money to him while such default continues.

Payments to be withheld from persons having unadjusted accounts, &c. 1858, 11, § 2. 1858, 158, § 13.

No salary shall be paid to any person for a longer period than that during which he has been actually employed in the duties of the office. When a salary is diminished, no greater rate shall be paid by reason of any previous appropriation therefor. No person shall at the same time receive more than one salary from the state treasury.

SECT. 37. Accounts for expenditures incurred or services rendered under an order of either or both branches of the legislature, shall be approved by the presiding officer of the branch by which the same is passed, and thereupon the auditor shall audit and certify the same, and the governor may draw his warrant therefor. SECT. 38. The term “incidental expenses,” when used in an appropriation, shall include expenses of postage, printing, and stationery.

SECT. 39. An appropriation for a service or object for which a larger or different appropriation has been made in some previous act or resolve, shall supersede the other.

SECT. 40. Laws making appropriations for a specified year shall not be construed to prevent the application in the following year of any unexpended balance, to the same objects.

SECT. 41. Public functionaries charged with the execution of any service for which an appropriation is made, shall use every effort to accomplish the same for a less sum than the amount of the appropriation, when it can be done conformably to the interests of the state. No public functionary shall make purchases or incur liabilities in the name of the commonwealth for a larger amount than that which has been appropriated by law for the service or object; and the state shall be subject to no responsibility for the acts of its servants and officers beyond the several amounts duly appropriated by law. But this section shall not prevent public officers or boards from continuing the several departments of service under their charge during the month of January, until the pleasure of the legislature is made known, at the rate of expenditure authorized by the appropriations for the preceding year.

SECT. 42. No public officer or board shall incur any new or unusual expense, make any permanent contract, increase any salary, or employ any new clerk, assistant or other subordinate, unless an appropriation sufficient to cover the necessary expense thereof has been previously made by the legislature.

SECT. 43. No permanent improvements, alterations, or additions, shall be made in any of the buildings belonging to the commonwealth, until specific descriptions of such intended changes, and estimates of the expenses thereof, have been submitted to the legislature, and special appropriations made therefor; but this shall not prohibit expenditures necessary for keeping said buildings and the grounds appurtenant thereto in good order and condition.

SECT. 44. Before any charges are paid in bills or schedules for articles purchased, services rendered, or expenses incurred, for the commonwealth, except for salaries fixed by law or payments otherwise provided for, the auditor may, and where the amount exceeds fifty dollars shall, require affidavit to be made that such articles have been purchased, services rendered, and expenses incurred. All original bills, and original bills included in such schedules, shall, within one month after the money has been paid, be delivered to the auditor to be retained by him.

SECT. 45. No committee of the legislature shall incur any expenditure or liability in behalf of the state, after the close of the regular session, unless there is a subsisting appropriation therefor; and the amount of the expenditure or liability shall be limited by the appropriation. SECT. 21. Any town may, at the annual meeting, vote to increase or diminish the number of its school committee. Such increase shall be made by adding one or more to each class, to hold office according to the tenure of the class to which they are severally chosen. Such diminution shall be made by choosing, annually, such number as will in three years effect it, and a vote to diminish shall remain in force until the diminution under it is accomplished.

SECT. 22. The school committee shall appoint a secretary and keep a permanent record book, in which all its votes, orders and proceedings shall by him be recorded.

SECT. 23. The school committee, unless the town at its annual meeting determines that the duty may be performed by the prudential committee, shall select and contract with the teachers of the public schools; shall require full and satisfactory evidence of the good moral character of all instructors who may be employed; and shall ascertain, by personal examination, their qualifications for teaching and capacity for the government of schools.

SECT. 24. Every instructor of a town or district school shall, before he opens such school, obtain from the school committee a certificate in duplicate of his qualifications, one of which shall be deposited with the selectmen before any payment is made to such instructor on account of his services; and upon so filing such certificate, the teacher of any public school shall be entitled to receive, on demand, his wages due at the expiration of any quarter, or term longer or shorter than a quarter, or upon the close of any single term of service, subject to the condition specified in section thirteen of chapter forty.

SECT. 25. The school committee may dismiss from employment any teacher whenever they think proper, and such teacher shall receive no compensation for services rendered after such dismissal.

SECT. 26. SECT. 27. The school committee shall require the daily reading of some portion of the Bible in the common English version; but shall never direct any school books calculated to favor the tenets of any particular sect of christians to be purchased or used in any of the town schools.

SECT. 28. The school committee shall direct what books shall be used in the public schools, and no change shall be made in said books except by the unanimous consent of the whole board, unless the committee consists of more than nine, and questions relating to school books are intrusted to a sub-committee. In that case, the consent of two-thirds of the whole number of said sub-committee, with the concurrent vote of three-fourths of the whole board, shall be requisite for such change. If any change is made, each pupil then belonging to the public schools, and requiring the substituted book, shall be furnished with the same, by the school committee, at the expense of said town.

SECT. 29. The school committee shall procure, at the expense of the city or town, a sufficient supply of text-books for the public schools, and give notice of the place where they may be obtained. Said books shall be furnished to the pupils at such prices as merely to reimburse the expense of the same. The school committee shall give notice in writing to the assessors of the town of the names of the scholars supplied with books under the provisions of the preceding section, of the books so furnished, the prices thereof, and the names of the parents, masters, or guardians, who ought to have supplied the same. The assessors shall add the price of the books to the next annual tax of such parents, masters, or guardians; and the amount so added shall be levied, collected, and paid into the town treasury, in the same manner as the town taxes.

If parents unable to pay, tax may be omitted.

SECT. 38. When land has been designated by a town, school district, or those acting under its authority, or determined upon by the selectmen as a suitable place for the erection of a school-house and necessary buildings, or for enlarging a school-house lot, if the owner refuses to sell the same, or demands therefor a price deemed by the selectmen unreasonable, they may, with the approbation of the town, proceed to select, at their discretion, and lay out, a school-house lot, or an enlargement thereof, and to appraise the damages to the owner of such land in the manner provided for laying out highways and appraising damages sustained thereby; and upon payment, or tender of payment, of the amount of such damages, to the owner, by the town, the land shall be taken, held, and used, for the purpose aforesaid. But no lot so taken or enlarged shall exceed, in the whole, eighty square rods, exclusive of the land occupied by the school buildings.

SECT. 41. Except as may be otherwise provided in their respective charters, or acts in amendment thereof, the provisions of this chapter, so far as applicable, shall apply to cities. And the mayor and aldermen in the several cities are authorized to execute the powers given in section thirty-eight of this chapter to the selectmen and town.

SECT. 2. A school district shall be a body corporate so far as to prosecute and defend in all actions relating to the property or affairs of the district, and may take and hold, in fee simple or otherwise, any estate real or personal given to or purchased by the district for the support of a school or schools therein.

SECT. 3. A town may, at any time, abolish the school districts therein, and shall thereupon forthwith take possession of all the school-houses, land, apparatus and other property owned and used for school purposes, which such districts might lawfully sell and convey. SECT. 8. If a town so determines, the prudential committee may be chosen by the legal voters of the several school districts to which they respectively belong, in such manner as the district directs.

SECT. 9. When a town determines that the prudential committees shall select and contract with the school teachers for their districts, three persons in each district may be chosen to act as such committee.

SECT. 10. When the office of prudential committee becomes vacant in any district, by reason of the death, resignation, or removal of the person or persons elected, such district may fill the vacancy at a legal meeting called for the purpose.

SECT. 11. When no prudential committee is chosen for a school district, the school committee shall perform all the duties of the prudential committee.

SECT. 14. The warning shall be given seven days at least before the time appointed for the meeting, by personal notice to every inhabitant of the district qualified to vote in town affairs, or by leaving at his last and usual place of abode a written notification, expressing the time, place and purpose of the meeting, unless the district prescribes another mode of warning its meetings.

SECT. 15. A school district, at any regular meeting having an article in the warrant for that purpose, may prescribe the mode of warning all future meetings of the district; and may also direct by whom and in what manner such meetings may be called. Notwithstanding such prescribed mode, meetings may nevertheless be called in accordance with the provisions of the two preceding sections.

SECT. 16. The inhabitants of each school district, qualified to vote in town affairs, shall choose a clerk, who shall be sworn by the moderator, in open meeting, or by a justice of the peace; make a fair record of all votes passed at meetings of the district; certify the same when required, and hold his office until a successor is chosen and qualified.

SECT. 17. The clerk shall be answerable only for want of integrity on his own part; and if he certifies truly to the assessors of the town the votes of the district for raising, by a tax, any sum of money, the district shall be liable in case of any illegality in the proceedings in relation to raising such money.

SECT. 18. The legal voters of any district, at a meeting called for that purpose, may raise money for erecting or repairing school-houses in their district; for purchasing or hiring any buildings to be used as school-houses, and land for the use and accommodation thereof; and for purchasing libraries and necessary school apparatus, fuel, furniture, and other necessary articles, for the use of schools; they may also determine in what part of their district such school-houses shall stand, and choose any committee to carry into effect the provisions aforesaid.

SECTION 1. When a new highway, from town to town, or from place to place within the same town, is wanting, or when any highway can with greater public convenience be altered or discontinued, application therefor shall be made, by petition in writing to the county commissioners who have jurisdiction in the place in which such new highway or such alteration or discontinuance is wanted.

SECT. 2. No petition for the laying out, altering, or discontinuing, a highway, shall be proceeded upon by the commissioners, until the petitioners cause a sufficient recognizance to be given to the county, with surety to the satisfaction of the commissioners, for the payment of all costs and expenses which shall arise by reason of such petition and the proceedings thereon, if the petitioners shall not finally prevail.

SECT. 3. The commissioners to whom such petition is presented shall cause a copy thereof to be served upon the clerk of every town within which such new highway, alteration, or discontinuance, is prayed for, thirty days at least before the time appointed for any view or hearing. They shall also cause copies of the petition, or abstracts containing the substance thereof, to be posted in two public places in each of said towns, and shall give notice to all persons interested, by causing a like copy to be published three weeks successively in such newspaper as they shall order; the posting and the last publication of the copy to be fourteen days at least before any view, hearing, or adjudication, on such petition.

If at the time of view upon a petition for discontinuing a highway the commissioners shall decide that the same ought to be discontinued, they may at the same time adjudge and determine that it be discontinued without a further or subsequent meeting therefor, and may estimate the damages caused to any person thereby; and when a return of said proceedings and adjudication is made at the next regular meeting of the commissioners and accepted, it shall be held to be a discontinuance of such highway.

SECT. 9. If, upon a petition for laying out or altering a highway, the commissioners, after having viewed the same and heard all persons interested, are of opinion that the existing highway between the termini mentioned in the petition can be so far amended as to supersede the necessity of laying out a new highway or altering the location of existing ways, they may, after due notice to the towns interested, direct specific repairs to be made in the existing ways in such manner as the public convenience requires; and they may apportion the expense of making the same upon the county and towns respectively as in laying out highways.

SECT. 14. If damage shall be sustained by any persons in their property, by the laying out, altering, or discontinuing, a highway, the commissioners shall estimate the amount, and in their return state the share of each separately; but they shall not order such damages to be paid, nor shall a person claiming damage have a right to demand the same, until the land over which the highway or alteration is located has been entered upon and possession taken for the purpose of constructing it. But when a person so claiming damages has been put to trouble and expense by the proceedings, the commissioners shall allow him full indemnity therefor, instead of the damages awarded, although no entry is made upon his land.

Said trustee shall before entering upon the duties of his trust give a bond to the judge of probate and insolvency, with sufficient surety or sureties, in such penal sum as the judge directs, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as trustee under the provisions of this and the preceding section; which bond upon breach of its condition may be put in suit by order of the probate court for the use and benefit of the persons interested in the trust property, in like manner as is provided in case of bonds given by executors or administrators.

SECT. 19. A party aggrieved by the doings of the commissioners, either in laying out, locating anew, altering, or discontinuing, a highway, or in the estimation of his damages occasioned thereby, or by reason of any specific repairs ordered by the commissioners, or in the sum awarded him as indemnity, may, on application in writing to the commissioners, have a jury to determine the matter of his complaint; unless he agrees with the parties adversely interested to have the same determined by a committee to be appointed under the direction of the commissioners.

SECT. 54. Upon such application of a party thus interested, the commissioners shall order the petitioner to give notice thereof to all the other parties interested, by serving each of them, fourteen days at least before their next regular meeting, with an attested copy of such petition and the order thereon, that the other parties may if they see cause appear at the next meeting and become parties to the proceedings under the petition; and at the next meeting a jury shall be ordered as before provided in this chapter, who shall, under the direction of the person presiding at the trial, proceed to hear all the persons who have become parties to the proceedings.

They shall also cause notice to be given, before they proceed to view, or to hear the parties, as in the case of highways.

A person aggrieved by the laying out, or by the alteration or discontinuance, of a town or private way, or by an order for specific repairs, or by the assessment of his damages, or compensation by way of indemnity, may have the matter of his complaint determined by a jury, which may be applied for at any time within one year after such laying out, alteration, order for repairs, discontinuance, or assessment of indemnity; or if a suit is instituted within one year wherein the legal effect of the proceedings is drawn in question, such application for damages or indemnity may be made at any time within one year after the final determination of such suit. Upon such application, an order for a jury shall be made by the commissioners, (or by agreement of the parties the matter may be determined by a committee to be appointed by the commissioners;) and the jury or committee shall have the same powers, and the proceedings in all respects shall be conducted in the same manner, as before provided in like case with respect to highways. If the damages are increased or the way is altered, the damages and all charges shall be paid by the town; otherwise the charges arising on such application shall be paid by the applicant or person recognizing as aforesaid.

If he neglects to remove the same within the time

But in case a jury is applied for or committee agreed upon in any matter relating to a way, the warrant therefor shall be directed to the sheriff or his deputy, or to a coroner, of the county of Suffolk, and the proceedings thereon shall be the same as are had upon such warrants in other counties. The verdict of such jury as well as the report of such committee shall be returned to the superior court.

[WAYS IN CITIES.]

Provisions of chapter extend to cities.

SECT. 81. The provisions of the foregoing sections of this chapter, so far as applicable, shall apply to the several cities and towns, except as may be otherwise provided by city charters and acts in amendment thereof.

DEDICATION OF WAYS.

SECT. 82. No way opened and dedicated to the public use, which has not become a public way, shall be chargeable upon a city or town as a highway or town way, unless the same is laid out and established by such city or town in the manner prescribed by the statutes of the commonwealth.

Ways not chargeable unless, &c. 1846, 293, § 1. 4 Cush. 342. 5 Gray, 71. 7 Gray, 343.

SECT. 83. The mayor and aldermen and selectmen shall, whenever the public safety demands it, direct and cause the entrances of such ways entering on and uniting with an existing public highway, to be closed up; or may by other sufficient means caution the public against entering upon such ways; and if any such way shall not be closed, or sufficient notice given that the same is dangerous, the city or town shall be liable for damages arising from defects therein in the same manner as if it had been duly laid out and established.

Selectmen, &c., to close such ways, or caution the public, &c. 1846, 203, §§ 2, 3.

SECT. 84. In cities in which the city council, and in towns in which the inhabitants at a legal meeting, have accepted the provisions of this and the two following sections, if a street or way has been or shall be opened over private land by the owner thereof, and permitted to be used by the public before the same has been accepted and laid out according to law, the owners of the lots abutting thereon shall grade such street or way at their own expense, in such manner as the safety and convenience of the public shall in the opinion of the mayor and aldermen or selectmen require. If the owners of such abutting lots, after reasonable notice from the mayor and aldermen or selectmen, neglect or refuse so to do, or to close the street from public use, the mayor and aldermen or selectmen may cause the same to be graded, and after due notice to the parties interested shall assess the expense thereof upon the owners in such proportion as shall be judged reasonable. All assessments so made shall be a lien upon the abutting lands in the same manner as taxes are a lien upon real estate.

Abutters, when to grade ways; to be assessed for expense, if they refuse. 1853, 315, §§ 1, 4.

SECT. 85. The mayor and aldermen or selectmen may fix and establish the grade of a street or way so opened and used, and cause a plan of such grade to be deposited in the office of the city or town clerk. SECT. 86. The grading of such street or way by the owners of the land, in pursuance of the notice by the mayor and aldermen or selectmen, shall not be construed to be a dedication of the same to the public use, nor shall the establishment and record of the grade, or the grading thereof by the mayor and aldermen or selectmen, constitute an acceptance of the same by the city or town. But no such street or way shall be dug up or obstructed without the consent of the mayor and aldermen or selectmen.

Grading, not a dedication. Establishment of grade not an acceptance. Streets not to be obstructed without consent, &c. 1853, 115, §§ 1, 2, 3.

[ASCERTAINING LOCATION.]

SECT. 87. When ten or more freeholders represent to the mayor and aldermen of a city or selectmen of a town, that the exact location of a street, road, or way, over which they have jurisdiction, cannot readily be ascertained, they shall make investigation thereof, and if it appears that the representation is correct, shall, after giving the notice required in laying out a similar road or way, proceed to ascertain the correct location, erect the necessary bounds, and file a certificate thereof, for record, as provided in sections seventy-four and eighty-eight.

If location of way is uncertain, selectmen, &c., to ascertain, &c. 1853, 132, § 4.

And if they neglect to establish such monuments after being notified so to do by an owner of land through which any such way is laid out, (since the twenty-fifth of April, eighteen hundred and forty-eight,) the county if it be a county road, and the city or town if it be a city or town road, shall pay to the owner of the land the sum of fifty dollars for each month that such neglect continues, to be recovered in an action of tort.

WAYS OVER BURYING-GROUNDS.

Ways not to be laid out over burying-grounds, unless, &c. R. S. 24, § 59.

SECT. 89. No highway or town way shall be laid out or constructed in, upon, or through, an enclosure used or appropriated for the burial of the dead, unless authority to that effect is specially granted by law, or the consent of the inhabitants of the town where such enclosure is situated is first obtained.

Same subject. R. S. 24, § 60.

Such orders shall be final, and shall be enforced in the same manner as other orders by the commissioners are by law enforced.

See § 55.

SECT. 32. Companies thus organized may insure vessels, freights, goods, money, effects, and money lent on bottomry or respondentia, against the perils of the sea and other perils usually insured against by marine insurance; and dwelling-houses and other buildings, merchandise and other personal property, against loss by fire, according to their respective charters. But no stock company shall hold, on any one risk, a sum exceeding one-tenth part of the capital existing, and surplus, after deducting all losses, claims, liabilities, and debts due from the company. All policies shall be signed by the president and secretary; or in the absence of the president by two directors, and in the absence of the secretary by a secretary pro tem.

SECT. 33. When the capital shall have been reduced by losses or from any other cause, the amount thereafter to be taken on any one risk shall correspondingly be reduced to the limitation in the preceding section. If the directors allow more to be insured on any one risk, they shall be liable for a loss on any amount exceeding one-tenth the existing capital. If any company is under liability for losses actually sustained equal to the capital, and the president and directors knowing it make insurance or assent thereto, they shall be personally liable for the loss if any under such insurance. When the charter permits the capital stock to be paid by instalments, if the capital is lessened by losses before all instalments are paid in, each stockholder shall be liable for the instalments unpaid on his shares at the time of such loss; and no dividend shall be made until the capital is restored to its original amount.

SECT. 34. At each annual meeting the directors shall cause to be furnished to the stockholders a statement of the condition of the company, and in making dividends shall not consider any part of the premium money divisible until the risks for which the same was paid have absolutely been terminated. But in making up their annual statement they shall be required to charge the company only such portions of the cash or notes received on policies which are unexpired, as would be required to reinsure all outstanding risks.

MUTUAL MARINE AND MUTUAL FIRE AND MARINE COMPANIES.

Election of offi-
Form of agreement.
1851, 252, § 18.
See §§ 37, 40.

SECT. 35. Mutual marine and mutual fire and marine insurance companies established by the laws of this state shall be subject to the provisions of sections forty-three, forty-four, and forty-five, relating to mutual fire insurance companies, and shall before commencing business have an agreement substantially as follows, viz.:—

“The subscribers, members of the _____ insurance company, severally agree to pay said company on demand the sums set against our names, or such part thereof as may be called in for the use of the company, in money or promissory notes.”

Policies of insurance may be issued by such company when two hundred thousand dollars, if the company is in Boston, or one hundred thousand dollars, if the company is in any other city or town in the state, has been subscribed and paid in cash or notes payable on time not exceeding twelve months; and the president and a majority of the directors have certified that the subscribers are known to them, and they believe them solvent and able to pay their subscriptions; and a copy of the certificate has been deposited with the insurance commissioners and approved by them. Subsequent subscriptions shall be made and certified in like manner; and a like copy shall annually on or before the first day of November be filed with the commissioners.

When policies may be issued.

SECT. 36. Each subscriber during the term of his subscription, and each person insured, shall be a member of the company; but persons insured shall not remain members after the termination of the risk and the payment of the loss, if any thereon.

Membership, 1856, 252, § 19.

SECT. 37. The subscriptions provided for in section thirty-five shall constitute a permanent fund, to be used when necessary for payment of the losses and expenses of the company; but shall not be applied to pay the premiums for insurance effected by the subscribers. The subscription notes as they mature shall be paid in or other notes substituted therefor, so that the amount of the original fund shall not be reduced. The subscription notes or any pro rata portion thereof may be cancelled whenever the net profits of the business are sufficient to replace the same; and such profits shall then be invested as prescribed in section thirty, thereafter to be held as the permanent fund in place of said notes. All payments made on subscription notes and all cash funds not required for the current uses of the company shall be invested in the same manner. If any subscriber fails to pay his subscription, and it is proved that the president or a director knowingly certified falsely in regard to such subscriber, the person certifying shall be liable to the company for such sum as the subscriber fails to pay.

Subscriptions, how to be used, invested, and cancelled, 1856, 252, § 20.

SECT. 38. No company shall hold on one risk more than ten per cent. of its subscriptions and invested funds, not pledged, and premium notes on risks absolutely terminated, after deducting therefrom all losses and claims for losses, or cash received for risks not terminated, and all debts. Whenever by means of open policies or indorsements thereon more than ten per cent. is so at risk, the directors shall as soon as may be obtain reinsurance for the amount of such excess. If a company is at any time liable for losses beyond the amount of its cash fund, legal investments, premium notes received from risks terminated, and subscription notes, the president and directors, knowing the condition of the company, shall be personally liable for all losses occurring on insurance effected during such state of the company.

Limitation of single risk, before and after termination of premium notes, and directors' or over-insurance, 1856, 252, § 21.

SECT. 39. The directors shall require the president to make a monthly statement to them of the assets and liabilities of the company; which statement shall be entered upon their records or in a book kept for that purpose.

Monthly statement, 1856, 252, § 22.

SECT. 40. Mutual marine insurance companies incorporated in this state which have been in operation not less than twelve months shall cause an annual dividend statement to be made up in each year, containing a fair estimate of the net profits of the company not before divided, taking into view the probable amount to be paid on all claims, outstanding risks, and demands, against the company, and including expenses, interest, and allowances for previous deficiencies. After ascertaining in this mode the net profits of the year on the risks terminated, the directors may declare a dividend of such profits of a certain per cent. on the premiums received for such terminated risks and the subscriptions made to the safety fund in that year, and may issue certificates representing said dividend to the persons in whose names the policies of insurance and subscriptions for the year in conformity to the provisions of section thirty-five were originally made, or to their legal representatives. The certificates shall be transferable only on the books of the company under regulations to be prescribed by the by-laws, shall contain a provision declaring the same to be subject to future losses and expenses of the company until they are redeemed as hereinafter provided, and subject to be reduced by the directors in case of losses and expenses in any subsequent year exceeding the estimated profits of such year. But such original certificate need not be issued for a less sum than ten dollars. All such sums may be passed to the contingent accounts of the company.

Six per cent. interest may be paid on certificates, and excess of profits applied to redemption. 1852, 137, § 2.

SECT. 41. Such companies may pay on the certificates issued in conformity with the preceding section, from the accrued income of their invested funds, interest not exceeding six per cent. per annum; and whenever the net profits of any such company exceed the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, the excess may be applied from year to year thereafter to the redemption of the certificates of the previous years in such manner as the directors determine; but no certificates of any year shall be redeemed while certificates of previous years remain unredeemed. When the accumulations of net profits of such company exceed the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, such excess shall be so applied.

Debt due from persons entitled to certificate may be deducted. 1852, 137, § 3.

SECT. 42. When a person entitled to a certificate of profits is indebted to such company for any sum past due, the company may withhold the certificate and deduct such sum from the amount thereof, and reduce or cancel the same; but persons holding policies of the company or entitled to certificates shall not be answerable by reason thereof, or for any thing contained therein, except for the payment of their premium or other notes in advance for premiums.

SECT. 43. Every mutual fire insurance company shall annually elect by ballot not less than seven directors, citizens of this state, and, after the first election, members of the company, who shall manage and conduct the business thereof. Every person insured by the company shall be a member, and no one member shall be allowed more than five votes in person. Members may vote by proxies dated and executed within six months and returned and recorded on the books of the company three days previously to the meeting of the company at which the same are used; but no person shall be allowed by proxy or otherwise to cast more than twenty votes; and no paid officer shall vote as proxy for any absent member.

SECT. 44. The directors of every such company shall annually choose by ballot one of their number as president, a secretary and treasurer, who shall annually be sworn, and a record of the oath shall be entered upon the books of the company. The secretary shall keep true records of the meetings of the corporation and of the directors, and of all votes passed by them; and record a copy of all policies issued by such company, and all assignments or transfers of the same, when properly assented to, which record shall be open to the inspection of any persons interested therein.

Quorum of directors. Vacancies. Special meetings. 1853, 252, § 25. See § 35.

SECT. 46. One-half of the directors of every mutual fire insurance company with a guarantee capital shall be chosen from the holders of the guarantee stock, and the other half from the members of the mutual department. Corporations may be represented in mutual companies.
1856, 252, § 24.

SECT. 48. When the just claims against a mutual fire insurance company exceed the funds, its directors shall assess such sums as may be necessary upon the members in proportion to their premium and deposit, no member being liable to pay in addition to his premium and deposit more than a sum equal to his said premium and deposit; and in case of classification of risks, said assessment shall be made upon such premium and deposit as were given upon hazards associated with the property upon which losses have occurred. When sufficient property of the company cannot be found to satisfy an execution issued against it, and it has property belonging to the period assessed, the proceeds of which can be applied to satisfy such execution, if the directors neglect to pay the same, or neglect for thirty days after the rendition of judgment to make an assessment and deliver the same to the treasurer for collection, or to apply such assessment when collected to the payment of the execution, they shall be personally liable for the amount of the execution.

SECT. 49. If the treasurer of a mutual company unreasonably neglects to collect an assessment made by order of the directors and to apply the same to the payment of the claims for which it was made, he shall be liable in his private capacity to the party having such claims for the amount of the assessment; and he may repay himself out of any money afterwards received for the company on account of said assessment.

Liability of treasurer.

SECT. 50. When the directors of a mutual company are liable to pay an execution against the company, the creditor may recover the same by a suit in equity or by an action at law against the directors; and any director who pays an execution against the company for which he is personally liable, may have a suit at law with equitable remedies for contribution against any of the directors for their proportion, and also a suit at law with equitable remedies against the company or the individual members thereof who are liable therefor, for money so paid for them: provided, that no member shall be liable to pay in addition to his premium and deposit more than a sum equal thereto.

SECT. 51. Every member of a mutual company shall at the expiration of his policy have a share in the profits of the company during the time his policy was in force in proportion to the sums by him paid on account of said policy according to the contract or policy, after all expenses, liabilities, and losses then incurred have been deducted. And he shall in like manner be subject to pay any assessments which may be laid by such company for the payment of losses and expenses in accordance with its charter and the laws regulating such companies.

Members to share profits or losses at expiration of policy.

securing the payment of the deposit note, or other liabilities, or any sums assessed upon the same: provided, that the extent of the liability and the intention of the company to rely upon the lien are set forth on the face of the policy. Upon the alienation of the property to a bona fide purchaser, the lien shall cease as to all losses which thereafter occur, unless the policy is continued by consent of the purchaser and the company. If it becomes necessary to resort to such lien for the payment of the liabilities secured thereby, the treasurer shall demand payment from the insured and also from the tenant in possession, or the person having possession of the personal property, setting forth in writing the sum due; and in case of non-payment the company may sue and levy the execution upon the property or estate. The officer making the levy may sell the whole or any part thereof by auction, and apply the proceeds in the same manner, and the owner shall have the same right to redeem as in the sale of an equity of redemption of real estate.

SECT. 53. The directors of mutual fire insurance companies may divide the property insured into not exceeding four classes. The policy shall designate the class, and the assessments shall be made upon premiums and deposits belonging to the class in which the loss occurs; but no policy shall be issued in a separate class, until five hundred thousand dollars are subscribed to be insured in that class on one date, and the same is entered on the books of the company. The expenses of the company not strictly applicable to either class, shall be apportioned to each class according to the amount of premiums paid by that class for the same period; and in a division of the funds and returns of premiums and deposits, each member shall be entitled to receive his proportion of the profits belonging to the class in which he was insured. No money belonging to one class, received either as premium or assessment in said class, shall be used to pay losses or expenses or other liability of any other class.

When an assessment is ordered, the whole amount to be raised and the particular losses or other liabilities of which said amount consists shall be stated. The statement shall separately show the amount of cash on hand, of deposit notes, and of liabilities subject to such assessment, and it shall be recorded in a book kept for that purpose, and signed by the directors voting for such assessment. Companies dividing their risks and insuring in separate classes shall make such statement for each class in which an assessment is ordered. Any member of the company may inspect such statement and take a copy of the same; and a person who is liable to assessment shall be considered a member. No assessment shall be collected until such statement and record are made, nor shall an assessment be laid on any member whose policy has expired or been cancelled for the period of two years.

SECT. 56. No mutual fire insurance company shall issue policies on any other than the mutual plan of insurance, excepting such companies as have been chartered as stock and mutual companies; and such companies, if doing business in Boston, either directly or through agencies, before issuing policies or transacting any business in the stock depart- ment, shall have a guarantee capital of at least one hundred thousand dollars paid in and invested as required by sections thirty and thirty-one exclusive of stockholders' notes, (unless such notes are secured by mort- gage or by pledges of stock or bonds, as provided in section thirty-one,) and of all debts due from the company, and such proportion of all premiums received in cash for risks not terminated, as would be requisite to reinsure the same. If doing business in any other city or town, the sum of at least fifty thousand dollars shall be paid in and invested in like manner, and be subject to like conditions and restrictions. All business and investments on account of the stock department of such companies shall be separately kept, and the returns to the insurance commissioners respecting the same shall be according to the form marked A. The business done on the mutual principle shall also be kept separate, and returns made agreeably to the form marked C. Such combined companies shall not take on any one risk in their stock department a sum exceeding one-tenth of their capital stock; and when the capital stock is reduced in any way, the amount thereafter to be taken on any one risk shall forthwith be correspondingly reduced to the limitation in section thirty-two, until the capital is restored to its original amount.

SECT. 57. Mutual fire insurance companies incorporated in this state previously to the third day of July in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-six, may issue policies on any property included in the terms of their charters, situated in the New England states and New York; but such companies incorporated after that date shall not insure property situated without the limits of this state.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

SECT. 60. Before any mutual life insurance company goes into operation, a guarantee capital of one hundred thousand dollars shall be paid in money and invested as required by sections thirty and thirty-one. The subscribers or holders of guarantee stock in a mutual life insurance company shall choose the first board of directors; at all subsequent elections they shall choose one-half of the directors until the redemption of the guarantee stock, when the insured shall choose the directors. The stockholders shall be entitled to such annual dividends not exceeding seven per cent., as may be agreed upon at the time of subscribing the capital, if the net surplus over a requisite reservation for liabilities and contingencies is sufficient to pay the same; and if less than the sum originally agreed on, it shall be made equal to it when the profits of the company are sufficient. One-quarter of the estimated surplus fund above a sufficient fund to provide for risks, losses, expenses, and dividends, shall be reserved to be appropriated to the redemption of the guarantee stock; and after the expiration of ten years from the organization, when the amount reserved is sufficient and the insured so vote, the guarantee stock may be redeemed. At the expiration of every five years the residue of the estimated surplus fund may be divided among the assured in proportion to the amount of premiums paid by them respectively on account of the risk on their policies for any part or the whole of the preceding five years: provided, that any policy on which the premium is SECT. 62. A policy of insurance on the life of any person, expressed to be for the benefit of any married woman, whether procured by herself, her husband, or any other person, shall inure to her separate use and benefit and that of her children, independently of her husband or his creditors, or the person effecting the same or his creditors. A trustee may be appointed by the party obtaining the policy, or if no such appointment is made, then by the judge of the probate court for the county in which the party for whose benefit said policy is made resides, to hold the interest of the married woman in such policy or the proceeds thereof. A copy of the writing duly certified and authenticated shall be filed in the office of the insurance commissioners, and copies certified by them shall be sufficient evidence. This agency shall be continued while any liability remains outstanding against the company in this state, and the power shall not be revoked until the same power is given to another and a like copy filed as aforesaid. Service upon said agent shall be deemed sufficient service upon the principal.

also liable to indictment for such insufficiency and want of repair; but such corporation shall not be liable for damages to any person whose carriage and load exceed the weight of six tons.

SECT. 13. All fines imposed on a turnpike corporation for neglecting to repair its road shall be appropriated to that purpose. The court imposing a fine shall appoint a suitable agent so to apply it, who shall receive the same of the officer having the warrant for collecting it, and make return of his doings therein to the court, according to the order. The receipt of such agent upon the warrant shall be a sufficient discharge to the officer.

SECT. 14. When such corporation makes application to the county commissioners to permit it to relinquish its franchise as to the whole or part of its road which it is bound to support within their jurisdiction, requesting that the same may be laid out as a common highway; or when the commissioners on application determine that the common convenience and necessity require such road to be laid out as a common highway; they may with the assent of the corporation so lay out the same or any part thereof, and make alterations therein; proceeding in all respects in conformity with the provisions of chapter forty-three respecting the laying out of highways.

SECT. 15. The commissioners upon such taking may allow such damages as they think reasonable to the corporation, to be paid out of the county treasury, and they may order a part of such damages, not exceeding one-third thereof, to be refunded to the county treasury by the cities and towns through which the road passes, at such times as they direct. In apportioning the proportions to be paid by each, they shall have regard to the length of way in each, and the advantages to be derived to it.

If a city or town refuses or neglects to pay its proportion, the same proceedings may be had to enforce the payment as are provided in case of expenses of making highways by the commissioners where cities or towns neglect to make the same.

In the assessment of damages there shall be allowed to persons injured such damages only as they would be entitled to beyond the damages they would have sustained by the continuance of the turnpike road, taking into consideration any advantage which may accrue in consequence of making the same a highway.

SECT. 16. When a turnpike road or part thereof is established as a highway, all the rights, privileges, duties, and obligations, of the corporation, so far as they relate to that part of the road, shall cease; and when any such road is discontinued in whole or in part, the land over which the part discontinued was laid shall revert in the persons, their heirs and assigns, who were owners thereof at the time it was taken or purchased for the purpose of making such road; any conveyance thereof by deed to the corporation notwithstanding.

SECT. 17. Every such corporation established subsequently to the sixteenth day of March in the year one thousand eight hundred and five, shall annually in January exhibit to the governor and council a true account of the income or dividends arising from its tolls, together with its necessary disbursements for the year; and the books of the corporation shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the governor and council and the legislature.

SECT. 18. When the road of any such last mentioned corporation is suffered to be out of repair, and complaint is made to the commissioners, and a sufficient recognizance given to the county with sureties to the satisfaction of the commissioners for the payment of all costs and expenses which may arise by reason of the proceedings thereon if the complainant does not prevail, they may, after giving at least fourteen days' notice of said complaint to the president or clerk of the corporation, order that the gates be set open; and may order the costs and expenses to be paid by the corporation, and issue a warrant for the collection of the same. When an attested copy of such order is left with the president or clerk, the gates shall be set open immediately, and no toll shall be demanded until the commissioners revoke said order.

The proprietors shall prepare the proper blank forms of certificates of loading; and the masters and conductors of boats shall be entitled to use them without expense.

SECT. 22. When the collector of tolls on a canal thinks proper to have the loading of a boat weighed in order to ascertain the amount of toll payable therefor, he may detain such boat, and cause the goods, wares, and merchandise, laden on board, to be weighed; and if it is found that the loading is greater than the quantity stated in the certificate, the master or conductor of the boat, in addition to the penalty hereinbefore provided, shall pay the costs and charges of unloading, weighing, and reloading such goods, wares, or merchandise; but if it is found that the quantity is not greater than is stated in the certificate, the proprietors of the canal shall pay all such costs and charges, and reasonable damages for the detention of the master or conductor, and the persons employed in such boat, to be recovered in an action of tort against said proprietors.

wishing to raise or lower turnpike, &c.

R. S. 39, § 67.

SECT. 46. If a railroad is laid out across a turnpike road or other way, it shall be so made as not to obstruct the same.

SECT. 47. A corporation which constructs its road across a turnpike, highway, or town way, shall construct it so as to cross over or under the same; if over, a sufficient space shall be left under the railroad conveniently to accommodate the travel upon the turnpike or way; if under, the corporation shall build and maintain such bridges with suitable approaches thereto as in like manner to accommodate the travel upon the turnpike or way over the crossing.

SECT. 48. Such corporation may raise or lower any highway or town way for the purpose of having its road pass over or under the same; but before proceeding to cross, alter, or excavate for the purpose of crossing a highway or town way, it shall obtain from the county commissioners a decree prescribing what alterations may be made in the way, and the manner and time of making the alterations or structures the commissioners may require at the crossing; and before entering upon, excavating, or altering the way, shall give security, satisfactory to the commissioners, to the city or town in which the crossing is situated, that it will faithfully comply with the requirements of the decree to the acceptance of the commissioners, and indemnify the city or town from all damages and charges by reason of any failure so to do.

SECT. 49. If upon application of the mayor and aldermen or selectmen of any place to the county commissioners it appears that the corporation crosses with its road a highway or town way in such place so as to cause an obstruction thereto, or refuses or neglects to erect or keep in proper repair any bridge or other structure required or necessary at such crossing, the commissioners, after due notice to the corporation, may pass a decree prescribing what alterations, structures, or repairs it shall make at the crossing, and the time within which they shall be made; and shall order the corporation to pay the costs of the application. They may further order the corporation to give like security, as provided in the preceding section, for the faithful performance of the requirements of the decree and the indemnity of said place upon any failure in such performance.

SECT. 50. If it is made to appear to the supreme judicial court, or any justice thereof, in term time or vacation, upon the petition of the mayor and aldermen or selectmen of any place, that a corporation has excavated or altered a highway or town way without obtaining the decree and giving the security required by section forty-eight, or has neglected for fifteen days to give security as required by the preceding section, the court or justice may, by injunction or other suitable process according to the practice of courts of equity, restrain and prohibit the corporation from entering upon, altering, excavating, or crossing the way, until such decree is obtained or the security given.

SECT. 51. A corporation may raise or lower any turnpike for the purpose of having its road pass over or under the same; but before proceeding to make such alteration, it shall in writing notify the president or clerk of the turnpike corporation, which within thirty days after receiving the notice shall notify in writing the railroad corporation of the alterations, if any, which they may require to have made therein for such purpose.

SECT. 52. If the parties do not agree what alterations are necessary, the railroad corporation, or the proprietors of the turnpike, may apply to the county commissioners at their next regular meeting after the expiration of said thirty days, to determine whether any and what alterations shall be made, and their decision shall be final. If the corporation unreasonably neglects to make such alteration as the commissioners order, the proprietors shall have the same remedies as are prescribed for the recovery of damages caused by making a railroad.

SECT. 53. If the mayor and aldermen or selectmen of a city or town wherein a turnpike, highway, or town way crossed by a railroad on a level therewith is situated, are of opinion that it is necessary for the security of the public that the turnpike or way should be raised or lowered so as to pass over or under the railroad, they may in writing request the corporation owning the railroad so to raise or lower such turnpike or way. If the corporation neglects or refuses so to do, the mayor and aldermen or selectmen may apply to the county commissioners to decide upon the reasonableness of the request.

SECT. 54. If the commissioners, after due notice and hearing the parties, decide that such raising or lowering is necessary for the security of the public, the corporation shall comply with the decision and pay the costs of the application. If the commissioners decide that the alteration is not necessary, the mayor and aldermen or selectmen shall pay the costs. If the corporation unreasonably refuses or neglects to carry into effect the decision of the commissioners, the mayor and aldermen or selectmen may proceed to do it, and may in an action of tort against the corporation recover all charges and expenses occasioned by making the alteration.

SECT. 55. A corporation may alter the course of a highway or town way for the purpose of facilitating the crossing of the same by its road or permitting its road to pass at the side thereof without crossing, upon obtaining a decree of the county commissioners prescribing the manner and time of such alteration. Before granting the decree the commissioners after due notice to the town in which the way is situated shall decide that the alteration will not essentially injure the way. The corporation shall pay all damages occasioned to private property by the alteration as in case of land taken for its road.

SECT. 56. A corporation may with the consent of a turnpike or canal corporation, alter the course of a turnpike road, canal, or feeder to a canal, where the same interferes with the convenient location of its road.

SECT. 57. If after the laying out and making of a railroad the public convenience and necessity require a turnpike road or other way to be laid out across it, such road or way may be so laid out and established when the county commissioners so authorize and direct; and all expenses of and incident to constructing and maintaining the road or way at such crossing shall be borne by the county, city, town, or corporation, owning the same.

SECT. 58. The commissioners before so laying out any way across a railroad shall cause due notice to be given to the corporation that it may be heard in the premises; and after hearing all parties interested they may lay out the same, directing whether the crossing shall be over, under, or at a level with, the railroad, but not permitting it to be at a level unless public necessity so requires. If the way shall pass over the railroad they shall determine and specify in what manner the bridge

The commissioners shall cause due notice of the application to be given to the corporation owning the railroad; and after hearing the parties interested they may authorize the mayor and aldermen or selectmen so to lay out the way, and shall require it to be laid out and constructed in accordance with the provisions of the preceding section. They shall give special authority permitting it to be laid out upon a level with the railroad when in their opinion public necessity so requires.

Other duties of corporation at crossings. 1857, 287, § 6.

SECT. 60. A corporation whose road is crossed by a turnpike or other way on a level therewith, shall at its own expense so guard or protect its rails by plank, timber, or otherwise, as to secure a safe and easy passage across its road; and if in the opinion of the county commissioners any subsequent alteration of the turnpike or other way, or any additional safeguards, are required at the crossing, they may order the corporation to establish the same as provided in section forty-eight.

SECT. 63. The supreme judicial court shall have jurisdiction in equity, and may compel such corporations to raise or lower any turnpike, highway, or town way, when the county commissioners have decided in due and legal form that such raising or lowering is necessary for the security of the public; and to comply with the orders, decrees, and judgments, of county commissioners, in all cases touching obstructions to such ways by railroads.

CROSSINGS IN PRIVATE LANDS.

Commissioners may establish crossings where railroad separates lands. 1857, 213, § 1.

SECT. 64. When a railroad laid out by authority of law through land without the consent of the owner, separates one portion thereof from another, or from a highway or other public way, and the owner has a right to cross the railroad, if a difference arises between him and the corporation owning the road as to the place or manner in which he shall cross, either party may apply to the county commissioners to direct such place or manner. The commissioners after due notice to the other party and hearing the parties make such order in relation thereto and the costs of the application as they may deem proper.

SECT. 3. The amount of bounty to which a society is entitled for any year shall be ascertained by the certificate last filed by it under the preceding section.

In all cases the proportion of fence so assigned to each proprietor shall be recorded by the clerk in the books of the proprietors; and where there is no clerk, the record shall be made by the clerk of the city or town in which the general field is situated.

Proceedings
fence assigned
R. S. 43, § 31.

SECT. 36. If the part of the fence assigned to a proprietor becomes deficient and he does not repair it within three days after notice of such deficiency given him by a fence-viewer of the town, it may be repaired by any other proprietor; and such repairs may be examined by any two or more fence-viewers, and if adjudged by them to be sufficient, they shall ascertain and determine the cost of the repairs and make a statement thereof and of the amount of their fees in writing under their hands.

SECT. 39. Any proprietor may enclose his land at his own expense; and so long as he keeps it enclosed with a sufficient fence, may cultivate and use it as he thinks fit; and during such period, so far as such enclosed land is concerned, he shall neither be assessed for any expenses incident to the common field, nor exercise any control over the portion thereof not enclosed.

SECT. 40. Every proprietor of land lying unfenced in a general field shall once in every two years, if requested by the owner of the adjoining land, run lines with such owner between their lots, and shall make and keep up the boundaries between them by sufficient bound stones, at their joint expense. If he fails so to do after seven days' notice by the adjoining owner, he shall forfeit two dollars, to be recovered by such adjoining owner to his own use in an action of tort.

SECT. 41. When five or more distinct lots or pieces of land are so situated as to render it for the interest of the proprietors to enclose them in one common field, the superior court for the county in which the land or any part of it lies may order it to be so enclosed, if upon a hearing of the parties it appears to the court to be for their common benefit.

SECT. 42. No such order shall be made unless upon the application of the greater part in interest of the proprietors, and after due notice to all other persons interested and a full hearing thereon.

SECT. 44. Three or more proprietors of lots in a general field lying within one general fence or enclosure may, by a petition in writing to the proprietors of such field at any meeting of said proprietors legally warned for the purpose, request to have their lots either alone or jointly with any other lots in such field divided from the remainder of the field in order to be enclosed in one common fence and occupied by them as an entire field separately from the other proprietors. If the majority of proprietors in interest present at such meeting withhold or refuse their assent to such division, the superior court may upon the like application appoint five disinterested and suitable persons within the county where the general field is situated, to be a committee to make the division, if they deem it expedient, and to assign to each field its proportion of the partition fence which becomes necessary by reason of such division, to be kept up and maintained by the proprietors of the said general fields respectively.

SECT. 45. The committee shall as soon as may be after their appointment make return of their doings under their hands to the court; and after its acceptance by the court the fields so divided shall be deemed separate general fields, and the proprietors of the field set off and the remaining proprietors of the original field respectively shall be distinct and separate proprietary bodies, having like powers and privileges and subject to like duties and liabilities as the proprietors of the original general field before the division; but no order for such division shall be made, and no such committee shall be appointed, until the other proprietors have had notice of the petition for such division; which notice shall be given by serving the clerk of the proprietors with a copy of the petition thirty days at least before such order or appointment is made.

SECT. 4. They shall appoint one or more persons, to be approved by the governor and council, who shall ascertain the names of all foreigners brought into this state by any conveyance by land, or by any lines of communication established for the regular transportation of passengers by water, not extending beyond or stopping at places without the United States, and also procure such further information in relation to such foreigners as is practicable in order to identify them if they should hereafter become a public charge. All officers and agents of railroad corporations, and proprietors or agents of other means of conveyance, shall furnish the agents of the commonwealth, when so required, with the information above named so far as in their power, by filling up blanks to be furnished them for that purpose. If any of said persons refuse or neglect to furnish such information when requested, they shall be punishable by fine not less than twenty dollars for each person in relation to whom the information is withheld.

They shall also prescribe the form of certificates required of mayors of cities, or overseers of the poor of towns, when a pauper is sent therefrom to either of the state almshouses; which certificate shall contain such inquiries in relation to the age, parentage, birthplace, and former residence of, and other facts relating to, the pauper, as they may deem necessary, to which mayors and overseers of the poor shall render true answers as far as they are able, before the pauper is received into the almshouse. The several cities and towns shall be furnished with blank forms of said certificate by the commissioners.

SECT. 31. If after the discharge of an incurable lunatic under the preceding section, it is made to appear on complaint by any person under oath to the judge of the probate court for the county in which the lunatic has his legal settlement or is placed, that he is not comfortably supported, or that the public safety is endangered by him, said judge shall order his recommitment to said hospital. And I, J. S., one of the above-named complainants, on oath, say that I have reason to believe, and do believe, that intoxicating liquor, such as is above mentioned, has been sold in the house above mentioned, (or has been taken from the house above mentioned for the purpose of being sold,) by the occupant of said house, or with the consent and permission of the occupant of said house, contrary to law, within one month next before this day, and that said liquor above mentioned is now kept in said house for sale by said D.
